

Person-Centered Memory Support At Home

With the support of a Home Care Assistance trained dementia care specialist, your loved one will be supported, and you will have peace of mind.

Home Care Assistance’s Enhanced Dementia training is a best-in-class, proprietary dementia training that empowers our care teams to deliver person-centered and evidence-informed care.

Developed by our in-house brain trust with insights from our Scientific Advisory Board and the latest research in cognitive care, our proprietary training was designed specifically for our clients with cognitive impairment and the caregivers and team that care for them.

Caregivers who complete our Enhanced Dementia Training are able to better support clients because they understand:

- Common symptoms of dementia skills for redirection and a dementia-specific approach in response to care challenges
- Reframing challenging behaviors and moods as expressions
- Tailored engagement adapted to the person’s strengths and abilities to promote joy and connection

This is hands down what EVERY person supporting someone with dementia needs...I will use this training to empower our caregivers to be able to deal with various scenarios and challenges faced in the field.
